

Monument of the Hidden Truth

This design is about making a space where people feel equal. I want to create a place where everyone can feel we are all the same. All humans have the same body parts like heart, lungs, and bones. I use this idea in my design. It is a space where we can see that we are not so different.

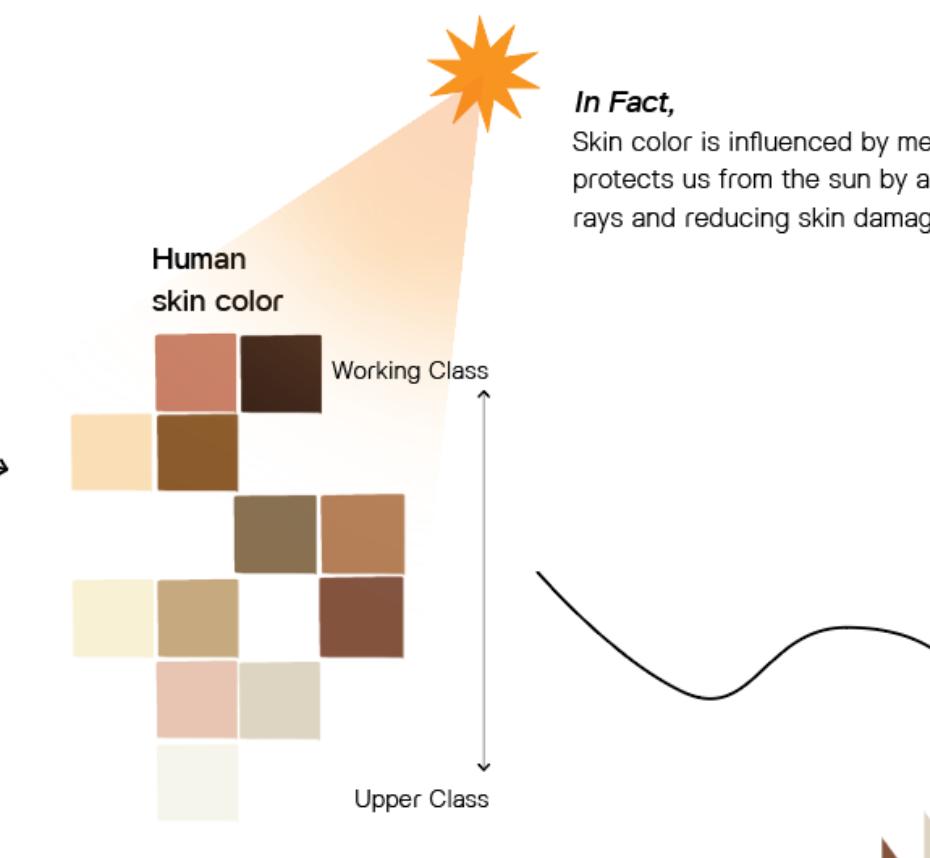

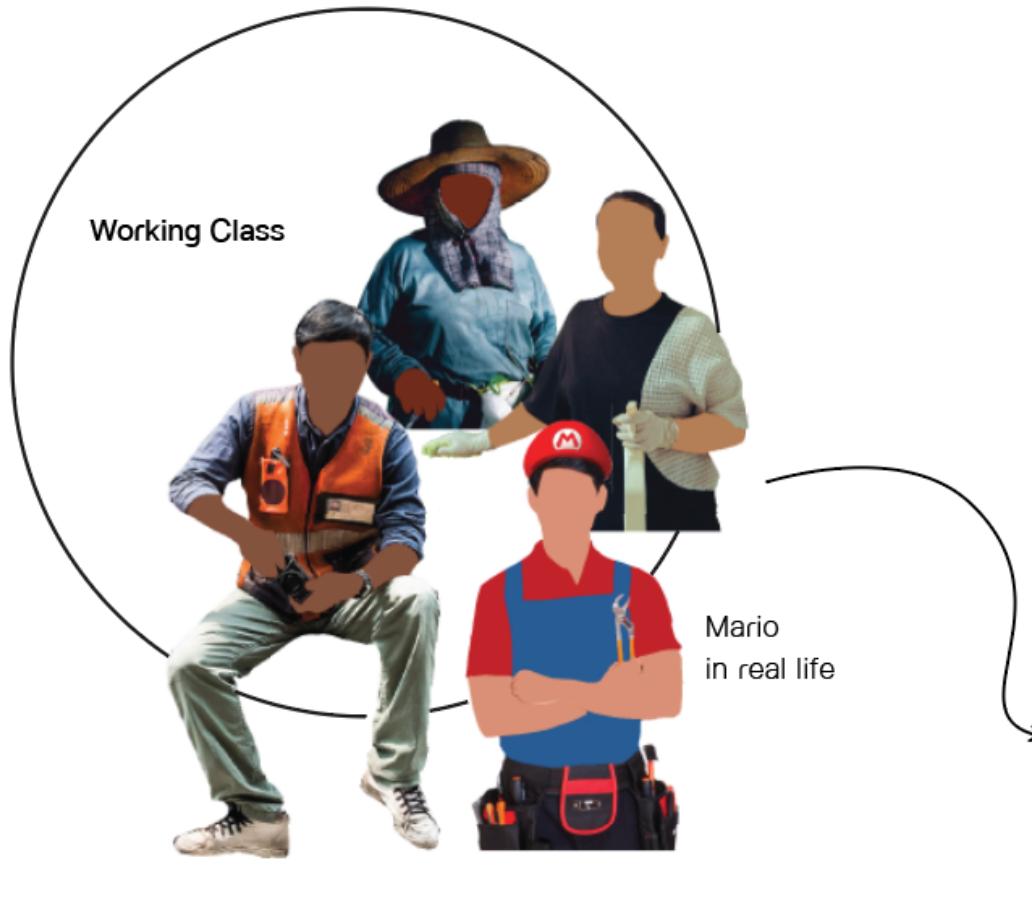

I get inspiration from Mario, the game character. He is just a simple plumber, a normal worker. But he is the hero. This shows that even grassroot people can be special. Everyone is important.

The space is like an onsen, a Japanese hot spring. In the onsen, people take off their clothes and go inside together. You cannot see who is rich or poor, or what job they have. You only see a person. This helps to remove judgment and bias.

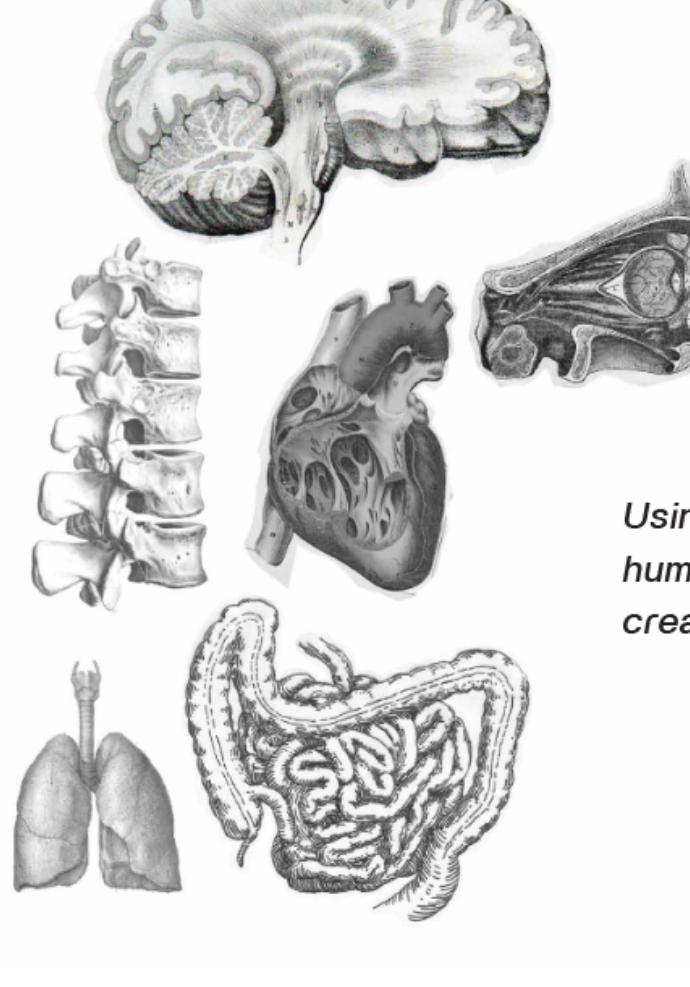

The space is warm and quiet. People can relax and feel peace. It is a place to forget outside world and feel close to others. It reminds us we are human before anything else. Different outside, but same inside.

Site Analysis

In Fact,
Skin color is influenced by melanin, a pigment that protects us from the sun by absorbing harmful UV rays and reducing skin damage.

Using the shapes of human's organs to create the space

What we use to differentiate people

What we have in common

